ORISSA

Past and Future

Mahatma Gandhi came for the first time to Orissa in 1921 and was appalled to see its poverty. It was Orissa which first indicated to him and other Indian leaders that welfare and development activities were to be the first consideration of a modern State. In the past, it had told Acha that not war and conquests and a thirst for blood, but peace and prosperity of the people, were what the king should strive for.

Orissa has been a land of peace. It was the first meeting ground of pre-Aryan and Aryan cultures. In Orissa, evolved a synthesis of the two cultures, which synthesis is symbolised in the cult of Jagannath. Waves of dynasties from the north and the south have rushed through successive centuries into Orissa and have got assimilated into a nation of men, great in art and literature. These men have left imperishable marks in history, in the caves of Khondagiri, the temples of Bhudarenwar—the city of temples, the Black Pagoda of Korarck and the Great Jagannath Temple of Puri.

This small State, which is still struggling to keep its head above water, bids fair to rise again to its prestine glory. The Hirakud and Goddama projects are rapidly taking shape, new minerals are being unearthed every year and industries are being slowly but steadily established, while everything possible is being done to develop its manpower.

The figures and statistics given in this book will tell their own tale.

ORISSA

A five-year Road programme amounting to Rs. 2 crores for development of roads has been drawn up. This programme includes the ex-State areas and is so planned as to give a well balanced road system to the State. The roads are so adjusted as to bring most villages (including villages of the backward classes and scheduled tribes) reasonably close to a planned system of all-weather roads. The schemes are being put into execution according to their urgency and availability of funds.

In addition, maintenance and development requirements of all concerns for cement were reviewed and recommended.

3) Import Licenses were recommended for use to Indralahita.

A short note on the other activities of the Department and the working of departmental Stores is given below.

A Cold Storage was started at Cuttack with a capacity of 15,000 maunds to store improved seed potatoes and supply the same to cultivators. The estimate of the plant has produced a threefold result viz.

1. Seeds are made available at reasonable prices.
2. Quality seeds are supplied and weights guaranteed.
3. Seeds of grades higher than those usually used in Orissa could be introduced resulting in greater output.

Yds. 66-19-12½ tolas of yarn. Yds. 38-12-21 of yarn have been spun by the Añitarí.
h.

Stone industry:— The Department spent 65% on this industry for quarry operations employing 34 workers on contract basis. Sales worth of Rs. 873-7-0 have been sold.

Leather: The Department took up collection hides in some parts of the State and arranged proper curing and preliminary preparation.

Protection of hides in Boudh Tannery was 166 lbs. costing Rs. 1,52,600.

Facts worth knowing about the New Capital

Patna has been selected as the New Capital of Orissa. The foundation stone of the New Capital was laid by the Prime Minister of India on the 10th April 1948. A sum of nearly 5 crores of rupees was allocated for the construction. The New Capital is being constructed according to the plan drawn up by Mr. Koenigsberger, an expert of the Government of India on town planning. Under this plan the New Capital of Orissa will be a self-contained unit with all the amenities such as shopping centres, cinemas, play grounds, and centres of entertainment, etc. are of an artery road, subartery road, by-pass, long streets and lanes between quarters.

Water supply—On the advice of geological survey 2 trial bore holes were sunk at two different places in the vicinity of the Capital to ascertain experimental basis but were found to be unsuccessful. Government have therefore now finally decided to take the water supply from the Kuskhar river from a site at a distance of about 40 miles. Pending the finalising of the permanent water supply, the supply has been given to the present residents from spring tanks after proper treatment. The supply is being made through stand-pipes near the residential quarters.

Drainage and Sanitary Installations—The drainage and sewerage is to be carried for a distance of 10 miles. A good deal of purple lands are to be reserved for sewage purification and the water available which can be utilised for the cultivation as far as

LAKES IN THE STATE

The Chilka Lake

The Chilka Lake is a shallow inland sea situated in the extreme south of the Puti district and extending further also into the district of Ganjam. It is separated from the Bay of Bengal by a group of islands formed by alluvium and by a long strip of land, which for miles consists of nothing but a sandy ridge, little more than two hundred yards wide. It communicated with the Bay by a narrow inlet through the sandy bar thrown up by the sea - an inlet which in some years has to be kept open by artificial means. On the south-west, it is walled in by lofty hills, in some places descending abruptly to the water's edge and in others thrusting out arms and projections of rock into the lake. To the south, it loses itself in endless shallows, sedgy banks, and islands just peeping above the surface formed year by year from the silt Minister at its head. The Council of Ministers is collectively responsible to the House of the People.

Parliament

The Central Legislature is known as Parliament. It consists of two Houses—the Council of States and the House of the People.

The Council of States is a permanent body elected indirectly. One third of its members retire every second year. It has a maximum strength of 20 members. The House of the People consists of not more than 500 elected members and its life does not ordinarily exceed 5 years.

State Governments

Except in the centrally administered States, the executive authority of a State is vested in the Governor or the Rajpramukh, as the case may be. The Council of Ministers, with the Chief Minister as its leader, aids and advises him.
